

Review form (version 2024.7)

Before taking on a review, please read the following:

After filling out the review form, click the „close” button at the bottom of the form. The reviewer can reopen the review and modify it, make changes and complete it until the recommendation on the main page of the review is chosen (step 5 of the review process). Choosing the recommendation and sending the review to the editor completes the review process, after which changes can no longer be made to the review form.

Article title - Please fill in the article title

Relevance of the subject - Please evaluate how relevant the subject is.

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

The originality of the subject (the method) - Please evaluate the originality of the subject.

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

Correctness of application of research methodology - Please assess whether the research methodology was well selected for the topic and whether it was described and applied correctly.

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

Contribution to the field of study - Please assess whether the article contributes to the development of the field of study. Are the results and conclusions unambiguous, valid, and meaningful?

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

To what extent has the article solved the problem it discusses? - Please evaluate whether the discussed problem has been solved in the article.

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

The practical importance of the solution provided in the paper - Does the research have practical importance?

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

The selection and use of the subject literature - Is the literature adequately reviewed?

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

Formal and linguistic aspects of the paper - Is the manuscript well organised and clearly written?

- Good, average, poor, not applicable

Please give reasons for your evaluation as well as any specific comments

Information visible only to the editor - Please share any comments with the editor. Those comments won't be visible to the authors.